

TORNADOES CAUSE FATALITIES IN SOUTHERN STATES

NEW PLAN FOR PAVEMENT MAY BE TRIED HERE

Council Considered Improvement Streets on North Side

A new style of paving such as is in use in many cities of northern Illinois, may be given a trial in Dixon, provided that factions now seeking an improved street on East Morgan street and Assembly Place can be brought together. A good sized representation from both factions attended Tuesday evening's regular weekly session of the city council in behalf of their propositions. At a recent meeting of the council two petitions were presented, one asking that the council improve the street with the spreading of cinders and another, said to have the signatures of a majority of the property holders, asking for a cement street.

Last night was arranged for a hearing on the proposition and this was well attended but no results were obtained. At the suggestion of Mayor Frank D. Palmer the matter was left open until next Tuesday evening when the two factions will again meet and some final action will be taken by the city body.

Suggest Center Strip.

The property owners seeking the improvement of the street without making it a permanent cement paving, favor cinders, macadam or gravel. Another company of citizens both of East Morgan street and on Assembly Place are decidedly in favor of the permanent improvement with concrete paving and curbing.

As a medium whereby no burden would be placed upon any of the citizens, it was suggested that the term of paving now being used in residential sections be adopted as a medium of uniting both factions. This provides for a 16 or 18-foot cement slab running through the center of the street with a lip on either side to take care of storm water, the shoulder to be built of cinders or gravel and maintained by the city, or the property owners maintaining a lawn to the edge of the paving on either side. It was explained that this plan would be much less expensive than the full 28-foot width of cement paving with the curbs and gutters, and one which has been tried and tested in Rockford, Moline and many other northern Illinois cities and found to be very satisfactory.

Tax Reduction is Facing Rough Road

Washington, April 30.—A rougher road lay ahead of the tax reduction bill today when the senate voted to work on some of the controversial committee amendments with interest centering on the provisions relating to estate and gift taxes publicity of returns and the board of tax appeals.

With introduction of an amendment proposing a sub-corporation, Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking democrat of the finance committee said the minority would be ready to plunge into the income tax fight on which the main contest on the bill hinges. Opening of this fight has been postponed since Monday because of the intention of democrats to couple the corporation tax fight with that over the income rates.

Stokes and Four to Stand Trial on Five Counts on Indictment

Chicago, April 30.—W. E. D. Stokes, New York hotel owner, and four co-defendants must stand trial on five of nine counts in an indictment charging them with conspiracy to defame Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, Judge Cook indicated.

The trial of Stokes, D. F. Nugent, his New York attorney, Joseph Bruner, Hattie Johnson and Robert Lee is set for today. The five counts of the indictment deal with an alleged conspiracy to show Mrs. Stokes was at one time an inmate of a notorious club here.

Conqueror of Zev is Sarazen's Contender

New York, April 30.—St. James three-year-old Widener colt, who beat Zev three lengths in the six furlong Paumonok handicap yesterday, is regarded as the most dangerous challenger of Sarazen, unbeaten as a two-year-old, for honors at the Kentucky Derby.

Observers point out that St. James did more under 112 lbs. yesterday than Zev did when he won the Paumonok last season. St. James' time 1:21 3-4 was only two-fifths of a second slower than the track record.

Shoots Man Who Was to Have Married His Divorced Wife Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Eldorado Ill., April 30.—Joe Hatler, 39, today shot and killed Frank Dimel, 38—who was to have been married today to Hatler's divorced wife, Virginia, and then committed suicide.

Dimel and Mrs. Hatler, who is 25, boarded at the home of William Barrett. They were at the breakfast table when Hatler, who had heard of the wedding plans, strode into the house flourishing a revolver. Without a word he walked to Dimel's chair and shot him dead. Hatler then fled, ran to his own home six blocks away and shot himself.

LIFE EXPECTANCY STEADY DRINKERS BEST, SAYS PROF.

Instructor in Johns Hopkins Gives Surprising Tables.

Washington, April 30.—Papers relating to medical sciences and including one by Dr. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins University—presenting "expectation of life" tables on users of alcohol calculated in the same manner as life insurance mortality tables, were read today at the concluding sessions of the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

"Steady drinkers," Dr. Pearl set forth, "have a better expectation of life at all ages from 30 on to the end of the life than do total abstainers."

"Heavy drinkers," he continued, "have the poorest expectation of life at all ages after 30 in the case of females, and at all ages after 30 and up to about 65 in the case of males. From 65 on the heavy drinking males and the total abstaining males have about the same expectation.

"These conclusions are drawn from what is manifestly the most critically adequate material, considering both quality and quantity, which has ever been available for the study of the problem of the influence of alcohol upon the duration of human life."

COLLEGE HEADS DIFFER ON DRY LAW'S EFFECTS

Debate Ensued at Dinner of Missouri Society in New York.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, April 30.—The annual dinner of the Missouri Society last night resolved itself into a prohibition debate with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Columbia University, assailing the 18th Amendment and Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri making a defense.

Dr. Butler appealed to "men and women of religious faith, of moral principle and public spirit" to strike the 18th amendment from the constitution and declared that those who persist in supporting this "unenforceable law" are silent partners of the bootlegger.

"Senators and representatives," Dr. Butler said, "nonchalantly vote for prohibitory legislation and then drink alcoholic liquor. Judges sentence men for having been detected in doing what other judges do without detection."

"It is no more moral or immoral to drink or to refrain from drinking alcoholic liquor than it is to eat or to refrain from eating roast beef."

Dr. Brooks took issue with Dr. Butler, declaring:

"The American people have a right to prohibit any man from drinking," he asserted, "if that drinking harms anyone else and you know that there is not a case of a man drinking without harm to others."

FORMER HEAD OF CONFEDERATE VETS DIED LAST NIGHT

Gen. J. S. Carr Victim of Pneumonia Which Followed Flu.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, April 30.—General Julian S. Carr, former commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, and prominent in manufacturing, banking and railroad enterprises at his home in Durham, N. C., died last night at a hotel here.

Enroute from Durham to Chicago last Saturday to visit his daughter Mrs. H. C. Flowers, General Carr contracted influenza which developed into pneumonia yesterday.

Mrs. Flowers came here several months ago from Kansas City to study synthetic psychology with Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

Funeral arrangements will be completed today.

Julian S. Carr while holding the rank of general in the Confederate Veterans organization, never was an officer in the Confederate army. He left his studies at the University of North Carolina when 16 years old to join the Army of Northern Virginia and served throughout the war as a private in Hampton's Corps.

Tobacco Manufacturer.

General Carr returned to North Carolina after the war and purchased for $4,000 a one-third interest in the Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company. He became financial manager of the business which finally was sold to the American Tobacco Company for several million dollars. His business interests were varied. He was president of the First National Bank of Durham and had part in the management of scores of other industries.

Although he never held political office, General Carr was a delegate-at-large to 14 Democratic National Conventions. He declined the nomination for Governor in 1898 and received 14 votes for the vice-presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention in 1900. During the same year he was a candidate for United States Senator but withdrew in favor of Senator Furnifold M. Simmons.

General Carr gave freely of his time and money to educational and philanthropic causes, particularly to schools and colleges of his own state. Trinity College at Durham owes much of its growth to his influence.

Helped War Relief.

It is said of General Carr that during the war with Spain he paid the bills for families of every Durham soldier who needed assistance. During the world war he was an assistant in the office of Herbert Hoover in administering the food conservation program.

General Carr was a conspicuous figure at Confederate reunions. He was made Major-General of the North Carolina Division when the United Confederate Veterans Association was organized and held that office until the reunion of 1921 when he was elected commander-in-chief of the veterans.

General Carr was a son of John Wesley and Elizabeth Parrill Carr and was born at Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 12, 1845. He was married to Miss Nancy Graham Parrill of Orange County, N. C. in 1873. Six children were born: Eliza Morehead, Lalla Rookh, Julian S. Carr, Jr., Albert Marvin, Claiborne McDowell and Austin Heaton Carr.

HORSE THIEF IS CAUGHT IN IOWA ON RADIO'S TIP

Man, Wanted in Ogle Co., Under Arrest at West Branch.

Officer Harold Lenox with the assistance of the WOC broadcasting station at the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport, were the leading factors which led to the arrest of Edwin Shipman of Polo, wanted for the theft of a horse and buggy. Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, a long distance telephone message from the town marshal of West Branch, Iowa, brought the information that Shipman was being detained at that place.

A farmer, residing near West Branch had observed the stranger and the rig pass his house and a few minutes later heard the description of the outfit and driver broadcasted from the WOC station at Davenport. The broadcasting station was first notified and later the police at Dixon. Shipman was turned over to the sheriff of Tipton county, Iowa, and Officer Lenox notified Sheriff Dodson at Oregon, who passed through Dixon at 5 o'clock this morning on his way to Tipton to bring the youthful horse thief back to Illinois.

RIVER'S VICTIM WAS SUPERINTENDENT NEW BRIDGE

Was Drowned at Byron, April 3; Body Lodged on Debris.

Elroy Warner of Rockford, whose body was taken from Rock river at Oregon Tuesday, was supervising the construction of a bridge at Leaf River on the Black Hawk Trail between Byron and Oregon at the time he lost his life April 3. His body was wedged against some debris on a small island 50 feet north of the Oregon dam.

Richard Harshman, W. H. Myers and A. E. Parker, employees of the Illinois Northern Utilities plant, located just west of the dam, sighted the body and summoned Deputy Sheriff George D. Banning, who brought it to shore.

Warner, who was a foreman for the F. E. Marsh Construction company, was drowned when a launch in which he was riding, capsized. The launch was being used as a means of transportation, due to the condition of the roads.

Two companions, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, escaped, but Warner, who was clad in heavy wearing apparel, was unable to swim to shore.

Body Identified.

The identification of the body was made certain by a watch, several letters, checks and other papers, according to Deputy Sheriff Banning. More than $300 in cash was found in the pockets.

Only the face and hands were badly decomposed.

The body was taken to an Oregon undertaking establishment where Coroner J. C. Aldins, Forreston, held an inquest Tuesday afternoon.

Leaves Widow, 4 Children.

Warner was born in Ft. Wayne, Ind., and would have been 39 years old next September. He is survived by a widow and four children, Elsie Katherine, Mary and Rudolph.

Bonus Bill Agreed Upon By Conferees

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, April 30.—Agreement was reached today by the house and senate conferees on differences over the soldier bonus bill.

Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas sponsor of the bill in the senate said the conference report probably would be submitted to the senate tomorrow.

The conference rejected the senate amendment extending from Jan. 1, 1925 to July 1, 1925, the date of issuance of the policies.

Verdict for Defense in Retrial of Case

A jury in the circuit court last Monday evening brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant in the retrial of the case of Katherine McMahon vs. Bernard McMahon. The case was heard before Judge William J. Emerson Monday on a retrial which was granted at the last term.

M'CRAY GIVEN TEN YEAR TERM; FINED $10,000

To Be Taken to Atlanta Penitentiary Late Today.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Warren T. McCray, who retired today as governor of Indiana, was sentenced in federal court to serve ten years in the Atlanta Federal Prison and fined $10,000 on the charge of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud.

He was found guilty on Monday and presented his resignation as governor yesterday, effective at 10 a. m. today.

McCray, according to present plans will be taken to Atlanta, Ga., this afternoon.

Emmett F. Branch, Martinsville, Ind., lieutenant governor, today was sworn in as governor of Indiana to succeed McCray.

McCray, appearing fresh and rested, received sentence with scarcely a tremor.

Showed No Emotion.

At the adjournment of court the former governor walked to the U. S. marshal's rooms, with eyes straight ahead and no show of emotion. His attorneys left the court hurriedly and a few minutes afterward was cloistered with McCray.

McCray wound up his personal affairs last night and was said to be ready to begin his sentence.

It was just 20 minutes after McCray had officially ceased to be governor that sentence was passed.

The former governor was found guilty on 13 counts of using the mails to defraud. The maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine was imposed on each count. The sentence, as given, provides that McCray shall serve the first five years and pay a fine of $1,000 for the first county and the remaining counts will be served concurrently but the fines will be cumulative up to $10,000.

Judge Denounced Him.

Judge Anderson denounced McCray for repeated forgeries. He declared that if the prisoner "lived to be as old as Methuselah, I could not make out enough punishment." The judge declared McCray had violated the statutes hundreds of times and had committed perjury on the witness stand. He also denounced McCray for having broken the laws of the state of which he was governor—the statutes he had sworn to uphold and see enforced.

Throughout the denunciation McCray stared straight at Judge Anderson. At the start his right hand, resting on a table, was steady and except for a slight drumming with his fingers, he appeared impassive.

As Judge Anderson continued his discussion of the case, McCray became nervous and on several occasions, when it appeared the judge was ready to give sentence, his hands trembled. Judge Anderson paid the prisoner little heed.

Nerve Was Slipping.

McCray's iron hold on his nerves slipping as the judge prepared to pass sentence. His teeth clicked together sharply. The nervousness passed, and he was unemotional as the sentence was given.

The former governor had entered the court room five minutes before 10 o'clock, the hour set for sentence after passing thousands of persons who crowded the federal building, blocking the halls. He was calm and spoke in a hearty manner to newspapermen. He shook hands with each and then turned his attention to his attorneys and was conferring with them when Judge Anderson entered the court.

Manual Training Work of High School Shown

One of the most interesting exhibits ever made by the manual training department of the Dixon high school is being shown in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. all this week. Yesterday a large number of the citizens of the city took the opportunity to see the really wonderful work done by this department.

Several professional cabinet workers have said that the workmanship is of the best and is worthy of any furniture factory's best efforts. There are over one hundred pieces, including cedar chests, reading lamps, tables, candlesticks and many other articles. The Telegraph is advised that this exhibit will be shown for this week only and every man, woman and child is urged to see it at the Y. M. C. A. The exhibit can be seen at any time from 9 a. m. till 10 p. m.

Young Stribling is Winner in His Bout

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, April 30.—Young Stribling, Maco, the light heavyweight, outclassed Mike Burke of Greenwich Village at the Olympic games fund benefit shows last night in a bout limited to six rounds by the Georgian's age. Burke never appeared in any danger of hitting the canvas but he was outclassed in every round.

Paul Berlenbach scored a technical knockout over Harold Abbott in the fourth round of a ten-round light heavyweight battle.

Profits from the receipts of $45,699 will be diverted to the fund for defraying the expense of the American Olympic team in France.

DEFICIENCIES U. S. FIGHTING FLEET TOLD BY ADMIRAL

Gloomy Picture of Condition of Navy Given Commander.

Washington, April 30.—Serious deficiencies in the United States fighting fleet mobilized in southern waters last winter were reported by Admiral Robert E. Coontz, Commander-in-Chief, in his official account to the navy department of what was demonstrated during the maneuvers.

All submarines are so deficient in speed as to be of small use for fleet work except by accident in position," Admiral Coontz reported. "Considering the poor material, the work of the personnel aboard these submarines is in many cases most admirable and even heroic."

Had to Reduce Speed.

With relation to the slowness of various ships, both combatant and auxiliary, the report said that on one problem during the maneuvers under which the entire fleet was supposed to cruise at a maintained speed of ten knots, the rate had to be materially reduced. The chief reason, the report added, was the "slowness of the auxiliary ships."

"The train under convoy would limit speed to 7 1/2 knots," Admiral Coontz said. Commenting on the deficiencies in the fleet as to various types of craft, Admiral Coontz pointed out that there had been present with the fleet at Culberta at the time of the maneuvers no light cruisers, store ships, seaplanes, repair ships, destroyer tenders, lighter than air craft or a number of other types of auxiliary vessels.

Urges More Building.

The report urged that the building program to complete aircraft carriers, destroyers and submarine tenders and to construct light cruisers, "modern submarines," destroyer squadron leaders and fleet heavier than air machines, be pressed. It also recommended modernization of the battleships Florida, Utah, Arkansas, Wyoming, New York, Texas, Nevada and Oklahoma.

"Great deficiency" in the fleet had been shown by the maneuvers, Admiral Coontz said, due to the lack of 10,000 ton cruisers armed with eight inch guns, for use "as supports for the screen and linking vessels."

The destroyers, he added, had performed well but the lack of destroyer leaders had been "keenly felt in all the problems."

As to the general condition of the fleet, the report said:

"The condition of material of the fleet is not as good as it ought to be."

Leader of Smith's Campaign Outside of Tammany Planned

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, April 30.—Choice of a generalissimo of the Smith presidential campaign forces was expected today, following announcement of the decision to appoint a New York state committee.

The governor's political advisors yesterday announced the plan to name a committee but adjourned without choosing a chairman.

The conference marked the initiation of the first organized effort on behalf of the governor's presidential aspirations.

In choosing a chairman probably outside of Tammany, the governor's advisors were said to be following the advice of the late Tammany leader, who in tentative plans for the pre-convention campaign, said that his organization would not lead the movement, but merely play its role in a state-wide campaign.

Resumption of Jap Fight Seems Certain

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, April 30.—With indications pointing to an agreement by senate and house immigration bill conferees for postponement of the effective date of the Asiatic provision until July 1, a renewal of the Japanese exclusion fight in the senate at least, appears certain.

The postponement is understood to have been suggested by President Coolidge to give time for diplomatic exchanges between Washington and Tokyo that would, without giving so much offense to the Japanese, attain the end sought in the exclusion provision.

It was made clear that a number of western senators would fight against adoption of a conference report recommending such a change.

Would-be Suicide is Fastidious; Tried to End Life with Bitters

A rumor gained circulation this morning in which a farmer residing south of Dixon was said to have attempted self destruction last evening at his home. Investigation this morning developed the fact that the farmer had partaken too freely of "bitters" Sunday and was bordering on insanity when he threatened to take his life.

In his delirium he did not care to try Paris green, not knowing the dose necessary to obtain the desired result. A shot gun was spurned because he was not satisfied that he could do a good job and a sharp knife which he might have used to cut his throat did not satisfy because of the unsightly condition in which it would leave his corpse, he said. Reports this morning were to the effect that he was recovering.

LELAND CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF DIXON C. O. C.

Elected by Directors at Meeting Tuesday; Others Elected.

Alfred W. Leland of the Grand Depot Plow Division of the J. I. Case Co., was elected president of the Dixon Chapter of Commerce at the meeting of the directors Tuesday evening, other officers chosen being:

First Vice President—George W. Hawley.

Second Vice President—H. U. Bardwell.

Treasurer—M. L. Forsythe.

Secretary—Harold Woodleaf.

The board determined to hold its regular meetings every Thursday noon, the first to be held tomorrow, and it is announced that any member of the Chamber is welcome to any meeting of the directors, all of which will be open.

The directors have a number of important matters under consideration, it is stated, announcement of which will be made when definite action has been taken.

Revolt of Tennis Players is Growing

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, April 30.—Revolt against the player-writer ruling of the United States Lawn Tennis Association which led to the resignation from the Davis cup and Olympic teams of William T. Tilden, national champion, and Vincent Richards, noted tennis player yesterday when members of the West Side Tennis Club here secured a sufficient number of signatures to petition that club for action on the matter.

In resigning, Richards yesterday predicted a "war" between players who write and "the millionaire clique which has been apparently striving to make the court game safe for the idle rich and the Newport element."

"The disgruntled element have been trying to run Tilden and me out of tennis," he said, "but we 'independents' can muster a strong defense. I hope and Howard Kinsey write syndicated articles and I expect them to decline any invitation to play on the Davis cup team. Wallace Johnston and Carl Fischer, Philadelphia, are also opposed to the Association's stand."

Storms of tornado proportions were reported in Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina today.

BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Atlanta, Ga., April 30.—A dozen towns in four southeastern states bore the brunt of a series of tornadoes that today killed more than 20 persons, injured more than two score and wrecked property valued at close to $1,000,000.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Atlanta, Ga., April 30.—A series of tornadoes which dipped down into at least three states in this section today had taken a known toll of seven lives and caused upwards of a million dollars in property damage. Seven persons were reported to be missing.

Reports over meager telegraph wires at 10 o'clock showed 30 injured.

Greatest damage was indicated at Anderson, S. C., where a tornado descended upon the village of Riverside. Thirty persons are known to be dead and more than a score injured. Fifty houses were destroyed and a school building was damaged. Property loss will reach a half million dollars it was estimated.

At Opelika, Alabama, four negroes were reported killed and five others missing where a twister struck a negro settlement demolishing twelve houses.

Any smooth tin box can be painted with enamel paint to make a neat container for small articles.

Use Skins.
Instead of using the whole mushroom for soup, you can use the skins and stems only and have the rest for a meat sauce.

Relishes.
Relishes have a definite place in the menu as they give character and interest to cold meats that is quite lacking if they are served without.

Killing Moths.
If you find moths in your upholstered furniture, set the piece outdoors or by an open window and saturate it with gasoline. Of course, you must be careful to do this where there is no fire.

Cheeses.
Keep fancy and strong-smelling cheeses wrapped in tinfoil then in waxed paper and then inside a covered crock which should be kept in a cool place.

Bureau Drawers.
If you have difficulty with the drawers of your table or dresser sticking, plane them off on the sides and lower edge and then rub the surface over which they slide with tallow or paraffin.

Cooking Cereals.
All cereals should be stirred into boiling water and the salt should not be added at first because it hardens the cellulose.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY.
A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin.

EAT AND—

LOSE WEIGHT.

One whole large orange, one cup dandelion greens with one poached egg on toast, 1 half-inch slice nut and vegetable loaf with 1/2 cup stewed celery, 1/2 head lettuce, 1 tablespoon dry cottage cheese, 1 slice pineapple, 2 crisp wafers, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 pint skimmed milk.
Total calories, 1113. Protein, 238; fat, 291; carbohydrate, 554. Iron, .0241 gram.

If you are in the thirties and measure five feet four inches without shoes in height, you should weigh around 132 pounds. One or two more pounds, perhaps, for the late thirties, and one or two less the early.

If you do your own work, with the exception of washing and heavy cleaning, you will need about 2300 calories a day. If you weigh 160 pounds and want to weigh the ideal 130, eat about 120 calories a day until the desired weight is reached.

If you do not take any muscular exercise your calorie requirement will be less than 2300 and your diet should number about 1000 calories to reduce your weight.

The number of calories required per pound for normal weight is 15 for the average busy woman.

Gain Weight.
One whole orange, one cup cooked wheat cereal, 4 cornmeal pancakes with 4 tablespoons maple syrup, one cup cream of pea soup, 1 cup dandelion greens with 1 poached egg and 4 tablespoons hollandaise sauce on toast; 2 half-inch slices nut and vegetable loaf with 1 cup creamed celery; 1/2 head lettuce, 1 tablespoon Neufchatel cheese, 1 slice pineapple, 1 tablespoon chopped nuts, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1-6 raisin pie, one individual cottage pudding with four tablespoons chocolate sauce, 2 crisp wafers, 2 tablespoons croutons, four tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk, 2 Parkerhouse rolls with 1 dessert-spoon strawberry preserves.

Total calories, 3862. Protein, 399; fat, 1436; carbohydrate, 2027. Iron, .0281 gram.

If you would gain in weight you must of course increase the number of calories you eat a day. You probably have lived for years on less food than you require, so your extra calories may have to be added gradually until you acquire the habit of eating more. After you have learned to eat full meals you will find it easier to eat the added diet.

After the desired weight is reached don't let yourself slump back into your bad habits of going without lunch because you aren't hungry and not drinking milk because you don't like it. Eat regularly of fattening foods or you will lose your precious pounds.

Miss Vanderbilt Was Married Yesterday

Asheville, N. C., April 29.—Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt was married here today to Hon. John F. A. Cecil, who, until his resignation just announced, was a member of the British embassy staff at Washington.

The bride is the youngest of the grand children of William H. Vanderbilt and only child of the late Geo. H. Vanderbilt, who was the youngest of the grand children of Commodore Vanderbilt. On her maternal side she is a descendant of Peter Stuyvesant, the last Dutch Governor of what is now Manhattan.

The ceremony was performed in the Church of All Souls, the church of which was filled with a mass of flowers.

Miss Vanderbilt made her way up the aisle alone preceded by her maid of honor, Miss Rachel Strang, of Cleveland and two flower girls, Helen Raul and Peggy Morgan. She was met at the altar by her mother, Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt who gave her in marriage, and Mr. Cecil, attended by his best man, Hugh Tennant, secretary of the British embassy.

The betrothal ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. G. Bramwell Bennett. The bride's uncle, the Rev. George G. Merrill, of Stockbridge, Mass., solemnized the marriage which was the full Episcopal service.

Union Christian Endeavor Formed

Monday night the Christian Endeavorers from the different churches of the city held an enthusiastic Union Get-Together meeting at the Presbyterian church. At 6:30 fifty representatives from the Congregational, Evangelical, Presbyterian and Christian churches sat down to an appetizing supper under the supervision of Miss Katherine Morris. Throughout the meal, cheers and songs were led by Jene Campbell and Clair Schrock.

When all had finished eating Curtis Gardner of the Presbyterian church welcomed everyone with a toast. Miss Haynes representing the Congregational church was to reply, but owing to a previous engagement was unable to be there so Rev. Lair responded.

Responses were also given by Wilson White of the Evangelical church and Rev. Cleaver of the Christian church. The Appollo quartet, composed of Charles Edson, Clair Schrock, Carl Santee, Donald Raymond delighted all with a beautiful selection. Songs were sung heartily by everyone.

Rev. Brandteller of the Evangelical church gave a talk on what a Union Endeavor Society would mean to the young people of Dixon. Rev. Cleaver then took charge of organizing such a Union as all present were very much in favor of this plan. The following officers were elected:

President—Miss Katherine Morris.
Vice-President—Rev. Lair.
Secretary—Miss Mildred Schrock.
Treasurer—Miss Vera Padgett.

The meeting was then turned over to the new president, Miss Morris, to make all laws for the Union. This board of four members, one member to be elected by appointment from each of the four churches.

Elected President Women Voters

Buffalo, N. Y., April 29.—Miss Belle Sherwin, Cleveland, was unanimously elected president of the National League of Women Voters in yesterday's balloting, the elections committee announced today. Miss Julia Lathrop, Rockford, Ill., was elected first vice-president to fill the unexpired term of Miss Sherwin.

Chapter A C Had Enjoyable Meeting

Chapter A C, Illinois P. E. O. held a most enjoyable meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Worsley. This was the last meeting before vacation period and a large attendance was present. A 1 o'clock picnic luncheon preceded the business session.

Mrs. Roe, who was a delegate to the State Convention at Galesburg, April 22-24, gave a comprehensive and

CELEBRATED THEIR 26TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beckingham, among Sterling's most prominent citizens, on Sunday observed their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary. They were married in Dixon, Ill., going to Sterling twelve years ago. Since taking up their residence there they have become leaders in various club work and have been among the staunch supporters in the building of the new St. John's Lutheran church. Because of the dedication of the church on Sunday they did not celebrate their anniversary at home.

Subjects to Be Discussed at Convention

By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn., April 29.—Training for parenthood, child development, better films, country life, American citizenship and juvenile protection are a few of the subjects to be discussed at the annual conventions of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers association, the conference on home education and allied organizations to be held May 5-9.

Nationally prominent educators and specialists are on the program, headed by Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the Parent-Teachers association, and J. J. Hertz, U. S. commissioner of education.

Delegates representing a membership of almost three quarters of a million women from 46 states will attend.

Practical Club in Pleasant Meeting

Members of the Practical club spent an unusually pleasant afternoon yesterday with Mrs. A. H. Moore at her home. The meeting was well attended.

After the usual business was disposed of, the program for the afternoon was enjoyed, the feature being Mrs. Charles Swin's enjoyable paper on "Michael Angelo." After the reading of the paper Miss Audrey Moore greatly delighted all with two piano selections.

Very nice refreshments were served. The Moore home was fragrant with the spicy scent of bouquets of beautiful carnations.

MARRIAGE WILL BE AN EVENT OF EARLY MAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Marschang of Sterling, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen, to Leslie Bradshaw of Rock Falls, now employed in Chicago. The affair will take place the first part of May. Miss Marschang, who has been employed at the Kleinschmidt Dye company's office, has resigned her position there.

Miss Marschang is well known here where she has visited friends. She attended the card party yesterday at K. C. hall for the benefit of the Altar and Rosary society.

ENTERTAINED GUESTS AT ARNOULD HOME

Mrs. Rae Arnould entertained as her house guests last night, her mother, Mrs. Anson Dieterle and Mrs. Peter McCormick and Mrs. Beverly Ogden, all of Sterling. The ladies attended the benefit card party yesterday afternoon in Dixon at Knights of Columbus hall for the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Patrick's church.

TO ENTERTAIN CLUB NEXT WEEK

Mrs. A. W. Leland will entertain the members of the Duplicate Bridge club at their meeting next week.

NORFOLK OF MOHAIR

The old favorite—the Norfolk suit—has been revived along with the other variations of the suit this season. This one is of green mohair, very soft and light, worn with a smart crepe hat and scarf trimmed with bands of duvetyne.

To Give Reception for New Members

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church will give a reception on Friday evening at the church to the new members and of flocks of the church. A good attendance is desired, there will be a welcome for you.

D. A. R. TO MEET SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Daughters of the American Revolution will meet Saturday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. W. H. Wynn at her home on the Franklin road.

The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Bachman and Mrs. George Dixon. A full attendance is desired at this time on account of the annual election of officers and reports from the delegates to the national conference.

DIXON WOMAN'S CLUB SATURDAY

The members of the Dixon Woman's club will hold a regular meeting Saturday at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The business meeting will begin promptly at 2:15.

The program is in charge of the music department with Mrs. M. R. son as chairman. This program will begin at 3 o'clock and will be given by the pupils of Miss Rogers and Mrs. Goodsell. All the numbers will be compositions of MacDowell. This will be guest day and members are

Party By Altar and Rosary Society Was Great Success

The younger members of St. Patrick's Catholic church yesterday afternoon entertained with a very successful card party in Knights of Columbus hall, for the benefit of the Altar and Rosary Society of the church, the attendance being large and the play spirited.

The hall had been appropriately decorated in the flowers of spring time, in the pastel shades, and cut flowers and with palms and ferns; various cozy corners being arranged with divans and floor lamps for the comfort of the guests who did not play bridge.

There were forty-five tables of bridge and hostesses and assistants for each table. It was not progressive bridge, and the winner at each table was presented a lovely pink rose.

After the game most delicious refreshments of sandwiches, salads, relishes, teas, cake, etc., were served, and a happy social hour was spent while the refreshments were enjoyed.

The committee in charge of the successful affair deserve much credit for their labors.

A number of Sterling guests were present, including Mrs. Joseph Killian, Mrs. Matt Owens, Miss Helen Marschang, Mrs. Herman Bittorf, Mrs. Charles O'Malley, Mrs. Robert Gilson, Mrs. Anson Dieterle, Mrs. Henry Kohl, Mrs. Peter McCormick, Mrs. Charles Parker, Mrs. Fred Eberley, Mrs. Beverly Ogden.

SUNSHINE CLASS HAD MEETING

The Sunshine class of St. Paul's Lutheran church held a business meeting at the home of their president, Mrs. J. E. Winters, on Hennepin avenue, last evening, during which time plans were made for the spring work, and especially for the meeting of the class which is to be held in the church on the evening of May 16th.

Miss Hannah Osterheld was a visitor.

BALDWIN AUXILIARY TO MEET TUESDAY

The members of Baldwin Auxiliary, U. S. W. V., will meet in G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening and as this is an important meeting a large attendance is desired.

MR. COOLIDGE'S PURPOSE.

President Coolidge is accused of attempting to read out of the republican party the insurgent or "radical" element. Before leaping at such a conclusion it might be well to examine the evidence.

First, President Coolidge is now about as sure of the nomination of the Cleveland convention as any man could be who had a majority of the votes in hand two months before the convention meets. Further more, he will be able to exert great influence over the platform on which he will run. He can therefore look forward to November, and lay his plans for success in the election.

But his success in November would be jeopardized by a serious division in the republican party. If the lesson of 1912 is kept in mind, it will be evident that republican tactics should aim at preventing if possible, or if not possible minimizing that division. With Senator LaFollette seriously considering an independent candidacy, it would be poor politics to drive any great number of republicans out of the regular fold, incurring in all probability the loss of several states, not perhaps to Mr. LaFollette, but to the democrats because of a split republican vote.

President Coolidge has shown little evidence of being a poor politician. But he has shown what every strong president in the past has shown—a disposition to maintain the dignity and the rights of the executive branch in every way. In his correspondence with congress his principal aim has been to try to make the legislative branch do the work for which it was created. His annual message outlined a vast and important program. Much of it has been ignored by a congress that preferred to play politics and conduct investigations.
Toward these investigations the president's attitude has been correct. He accepted Secretary's Denby's resignation when it became apparent that the secretary's policy was contrary to that of the people's representatives. He took the resignations of Attorney General Daugherty when he felt that Mr.
Daugherty could no longer give the government disinterested advice.

The situation regarding Secretary Mellon is different. Against Mr. Mellon it has been proposed that a special investigator be hired to see, by an examination of confidential records, whether any evidences of corruption can be found.

Officials as burdened as are those of the treasury department sometimes make mistakes. Often the judgment of a reviewing or investigating body would not coincide with that of the officer whose duty it is to make decisions. But in such a situation there is no reason for suspecting widespread corruption, unless specific evidence of that corruption can be adduced. Where are they? What are the charges? Who makes them? The country has heard of none—only a lot of rumors. If there is a single case that warrants investigation, let the senate committee name it.

In the absence of such a case, is it not more reasonable to suppose that instead of harboring a plan for reading insurgent republicans out of the party President Coolidge is merely defending the executive branch against unwarranted encroachment by a senate committee? Is he not upholding the constitution, as he has sworn to do? It is an election year; but why seek, in every act, for evidences of political by-play? President Coolidge would be weak indeed, if he did not stand up for the law, regardless of the political situation.

UNSUNG HEROES.

Has loyalty become such a rare trait among humans as to be commonly mistaken for heroism? When the wireless operator on board ship, whose business it is to flash the S. O. S., sticks to his post though the ship is sinking and no one to call him a hero, but on ing watchman risks his life to save that of a child, who has strayed on the tracks of the fast express train, and the newspaper headlines blaze forth with the inspiring word "hero." His employers will cite him for his loyalty to his duty as a crossing watchman.

Wars may be chronicled in acts of heroism,
but the heroes are soldiers who have obeyed
the call of duty, of loyalty to their country.
It would seem that the loyal soldiers of commerce, industry and war are the heroes.

But there are deeds of loyalty performed in the more humdrum course of daily life which are never recorded in the public press, which do not attract Carnegie medals, which do not bestow upon their executors the title of hero. Is there loyalty any greater than that of a workman to his employer, of a citizen to his home town, of a community to its members and of a whole people to its state and country? Look about you and feel refreshed with the meagerness of the disloyal.
Men barren of loyalty are sure to be friendless. Is there in the world a greater virtue than fidelity to self and society?

Loyalty is the cement which binds business together, makes the wheels of industry go round, drives the ships and railroads of world commerce and secures the family, community and society against chaos and destruction.

All mankind loves a loyal dog. How much more essential is loyalty in a human being!

CHURCH AND BUSINESS.

A skyscraper temple—a church built into a big building that will rent space—will be erected in New York City. The idea is to make the church self-supporting, with a sure and regular income from rents. It is not a new idea, for many churches have funds invested. But it is an idea worth copying.

Business men, who belong to churches, by contributing their time and ability to similar projects could do a thousand times more for Christianity than by merely dropping money into a collection plate. Some may object to a church having commercial relations. But surely it is better than church poverty or even minor difficulty in making both ends meet.
The pity is, that all business is not controlled by the Christian religion.

WAR SALVAGE.

Uncle Sam's sales of surplus army and navy supplies are getting down to the bottom of the pile. The War Department, chief auctioneer, has recovered nearly three billion dollars this way.

Some of the supplies brought more than they originally cost. Others sold for less than a cent on the dollar. Most of the stuff went dirt cheap.

In marketing the three billion dollars' worth of supplies, the government has spent two million dollars advertising. Personal sales-manship, without advertising, would have cost many times as much. It pays to advertise.

WIND-BAGS.

Old documents are found, dealing with the famous banquet given to Charles Dickens by newspapermen. That was in 1868, and Delmonico charged $15 a plate, fabulous price for those days.

The records show that Dickens talked himself hoarse and that 14 long speeches were delivered by editors. Their oratory resembled their editorials.

Brevity is the rule today. More than ever before, people recognize that time is money —or imagine it is. We may have all eternity ahead of us, but deliver us from 15 long speeches at one banquet.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 15—THE LAND OF RED DAISIES

The wizard's daughter looked with surprise.

"I'd like to go to the Land of Red Daisies!" said Nancy.
"All right," answered Mister Muggs, the fairyman. "There's the red pig now. Jump into the car, kiddies, and we'll follow him. The way to the Land of Red Daisies is a secret, but this pig is a great friend of mine and he goes there every day. He is really a fairy and goes to find out what the red wizard is doing. The red wizard is the ruler of the Land of Red Daisies and between you and me, he is generally up to mischief."
Well, they followed the red pig and by and by they came to a red castle.
The castle was red and the grass was red and the trees and bushes were red, and everywhere there were red daisies as big as sunflowers.
Away went the red pig into the red woods, and when he had disappeared the Twins got out and so did Mister Muggs.
Suddenly a prince with a donkey's head appeared beside them.
"Don't go in there," he warned.
"That is the castle of the red wizard and he may come home any minute and find you there. And if he does he may turn your heads into donkeys' heads, just as he has done mine."
"Why did he do that?" asked Nancy.
"Because I wouldn't marry his daughter," answered the prince. "He said that if I was as stubborn as a balky mule he would make my looks match my disposition. My kingdom is next to this one, but he brought me here in the night by magic and I can't find my way back. Besides I'd be ashamed to go back looking so awful!"
Suddenly the red pig ran out of the

as well as in your there are secrets that I can never tell to anyone except you.

I went to see Norma Talmadge the other night in "Secrets." It was a story of the innermost soul of a loving woman from the time she first met the man she was to love until she died, until she was old, and the whole theme of the story seemed to me to her husband's want of her.
"Mary, I want you," he kept saying through all the years, and she, with ineffable love in her eyes always answered, "Yes, John." With a wealth of understanding she gave herself to him.

To her, love was the great adventure always. Even through middle life to age, romance still dwelt in her heart. In her husband she found that variety that made her always in love: that dependence upon her that always appealed to her charity; that utter trust which made her incapable of falling him.

As I saw this picture I thought of an old poem that had been written some years ago:

A man may make for his love a bed,
And though they be mated, he is not wed;
A man may love with his soul aloof—
But a woman is wedded in warp and woof.

"I will love me one; I will love me two."

I must talk to you a while, little tonight, and I do not know when I will be able to sit here again and divulge my secret thoughts.

I do not know why, little Marquise, you seem such a sympathetic confidante, for your love life must have been very different from mine.
Your lover was a king, and you had to love him in secret. My lover is just an average man, and our love may be flaunted in the eyes of the world yet I know that in my heart

And unto both shall my heart be

But this is the price that he pays and pays:
That he is not sated in all his days.

I could not help thinking of this as I read over again the letter which Harry Ellington wrote to Ruth. She brought it over to show to Jack last night. Here was a man that had said to himself: "I will love me one, I will love me two," and he had learned what another stanza in that poem said:

"This is the law that is made of old—
One may not squander his love's bright gold.
One may not flout his lead true mate
Or life will render him back in hate."

I watched Jack's face as he read that letter. Over it passed the emotions of surprise, of pity, of disgust;
then as he looked at Ruth, of great admiration and respect. Jack knew, in reading that letter, that he had been wrong in both his estimate of Harry Ellington, his friend, and Harry's wife.

"I'm glad you are going to get a divorce, Ruth," he said emphatically.

Parliament Receives First Labor Budget

London, April 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Parliament reassembled today after its short Easter vacation, keenly interested to learn the contents of the first budget ever introduced in the British House of Commons by a labor minister.
There was no great concern among those who might have reason to fear socialistic finances, as the restrictive conditions under which the government holds office were generally expected to put a compulsory brake on Chancellor Snowden's known political ideals.

Moreover the recent controversy respecting the fate of the duties inaugurated under the regime of Reginald McKenna whetted curiosity as to how the government would deal with this question, upon the answer of which some political observers believe the continuance of the labor administration may depend.

WIRE IS DRAWN THROUGH ROUGH DIAMOND GEMS

Kiwanians Learn Much Concerning Making of Wire Cloth.

The inside workings of the steel wire and woven screen wire industry in this city, one of the leading industries in Dixon, was revealed to about 75 members of the Dixon Kiwanis Tuesday afternoon through the courtesy of Douglas G. Harvey and John Ralston of the Reynolds Wire company. The club after enjoying the regular noon luncheon in the guild rooms at St. Luke's church went through the entire Reynolds system of plants.

The wire drawing plant on East River street was probably the most interesting. Here the Kiwanians saw rusty, rough steel wire, taken through various processes, passing through wonderful machines, placed in white-hot ovens and finally coming out in various forms to be used for all manner of commercial purpose or to be taken to the west end plant to be used in the manufacture of steel wire cloth.

The trip was the most interesting in the history of the club and was thoroughly enjoyed. The club was divided into groups and on their tour through the plants every operation was explained in detail and all questions cheerfully and quickly answered by the experts. The tour started in the department where the large coils of wire enter the plant to pass through the acid bath and then to be placed in a huge vat of boiling lime water, resembling a large keyser, the latter chemical treatment serving as a lubricant as the wire passes through the machines. It was then followed into the room where it first enters the machines to be drawn, thence to the annealing ovens, back into another lime bath and then again to the drawing machines. Another set of annealing ovens, where the wire is under a white heat for a period of 16 hours, was visited. All of the wire passing through the mill is double annealed.

Saw Wire Made.

Stove pipe wire, wire for use in box binding and stapling, and wire for practically every commercial purpose was turned out before the eyes of the Kiwanians, being weighed and wrapped by one machine.

The "wet" room, where the wire coming from the second set of annealing ovens is washed under heavy water pressure and then passed through a scouring bath of soap suds, was most interesting. This department, it was explained, operates continuously, three shifts of operators working at eight hours shifts.

In the yard to the west of the plant is stored the rough wire as it comes from the steel mills, the scrap wire, which is sold for junk, and huge tanks in which are stored acids and crude oil, which already has supplanted coal in the operation of the bake ovens, and will soon be used to heat the annealing furnaces.

Drawn Through Diamonds.

To the average citizen, it is probably not known that the wire is drawn to the desired scale through diamonds. The diamonds which are not desirable for commercial purposes and in the rough, and they are received from Australia and Brazil, are taken into one department. Here small holes drilled to one one-hundredth of an inch are made. The wire passes through these diamond dies coming out to the desired scale. As the diamonds are worn down by the drawing process, new ones are used and the old ones reground with diamond dust and placed on other machines for the drawing of larger scale of wire. This completes the process through which the wire passes at the east end plant and is then in readiness to be taken to the weaving plant.

The tour through the west end or weaving plant was equally as instructive and interesting. The Kiwanians here viewing the wire being wound on bobbins, placed on looms and woven into fine mesh wire, the operation being as delicate as in the manufacture of fine fabric. The chemical baths, through which various brands of woven wire are treated, were most interesting. The mechanical device measuring and marking the wire was a feature which attracted the attention of the visitors in the weaving plant. Every operation was carefully traced up to the wrapping of the various brands of woven wire cloth making it ready for shipping.

The trip was educational and interesting and marks the first of a series of visits to Dixon industries to be made by the Kiwanis club this season.

THE NUT CRACKER

MR. W. JOHNSON.

WALTER JOHNSON has seen his best day and now is up to his rugged ears in an estate frenzy of worst days, allowing everything but hits and winning nothing but ball games.

THE Big Swift is in the twilight of his pitching career. . . . The kind of twilight that shrivels red geraniums on the front lawn and sends sky ogles scurrying for smoked glasses.

THE Washington Ace is on his last legs. . . . The kind of legs that support the Brooklyn bridge and hold up towering statues of Lincoln.

THE Smoke Screen has gone back in a manner reminiscent of Henry Ford's dwindling fortune and the waning popularity of blondes who effect black silk hostelry.

THE Big Bullet used to depend solely on his fast ball. Now that he has lost that he has nothing left but a faster one.

IN the old days the hitters would just swing at Walter's whining whizzers and trust to luck. Now they just swing.

MR. JOHNSON has been pitching since Pop Geers was a stable swipe and he's stopped more guys with strikes than Sammy Gompers ever thought of starting.

THE Fire Ball is little more than a shell of his former self, and is hardly distinguishable from a well set up pyramid or a long stretch of the Rockies.

NO pitcher has more shutout games to his credit. Whenever the other side gets one run off Johnson they're scoring in bunches.

THE Hurling Hurricane never tried to develop any trick deliveries. If you hold the ace you don't have to worry where the ten spots are.

JOHNSON says this will be his last year in the game and Washington won't miss him any more than Pavlowa would miss her left instep.

POULTRY FOR NEXT YEAR

BY HORTON E. GREEN

Next year's crop of poultry should now have some attention. Your breeders for another year should be chosen next month or as soon after that time as it can conveniently be done. If you are satisfied with the breed, or variety you have, you should begin selecting your layers for next season by having your layers of this season carefully culled in May or June, because the poor layers will all have ceased laying for the season by the middle of June, then by culling them you will get the poor ones. This makes more room for the young chicks and gets the old ones that should go, on the market while the price is still high. The price of hens usually begins to decline about July 1 and keeps on declining until near the holidays.

A common practice with a great many farmer poultry raisers is to sell off the hens as they become broody in the spring, but that is not a wise policy; because many of the hens that become broody early are such as began laying early last fall and kept it up well all winter and are precisely what you want for your breeders next year. Do not depend on this season's crop of pullets for your next year's breeders. Use all these for your next winter layers but do not breed from their eggs if you can help it.

If you are planning to start in the poultry business another year, or are thinking of trying another, some other breed than which you now have, you will do well to make the change by finding out who have the variety you want, then take a good poultry judge with you and select as many as you wish and be sure that they are all good layers, even though you have to pay a few cents more a pound than the market will allow, it will be a good investment in the long run. I would rather have ten good layers, one, two or three years old than three dozen pullets for breeders. In the first place hens molt in the fall and do not lay until towards spring, so are not run down in vigor, thus their eggs will nearly all be fertile. In the second place hens lay larger eggs than do pullets so their chicks will be larger and thus stronger and a much larger percent of them will live and will grow faster and mature into larger broilers or fowls than those hatched from pullets' eggs. Of course, eggs should be the chief aim of the poultry raiser, but at the same time while you are getting 12 dozen eggs from a hen in 12 months it makes a good deal of difference when selling her on the market at the end of that twelve months whether she weighs four pounds or eight pounds and it largely depends on what sort of hens you breed from.

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

With an increase of 15 bushels per acre for corn during the last four years following the use of sweet clover seeded in wheat as a green manure crop, the Illinois Experimental Station has planned a meeting for farmers of Lee and adjoining counties at the Dixon on Experimental Field 2 miles west of Dixon on May 7 at 1:30 p. m. The use of sweet clover has also increased wheat yields 5 bushels per acre and has very noticeably built up the soil fertility in the plots where sweet clover has been used.

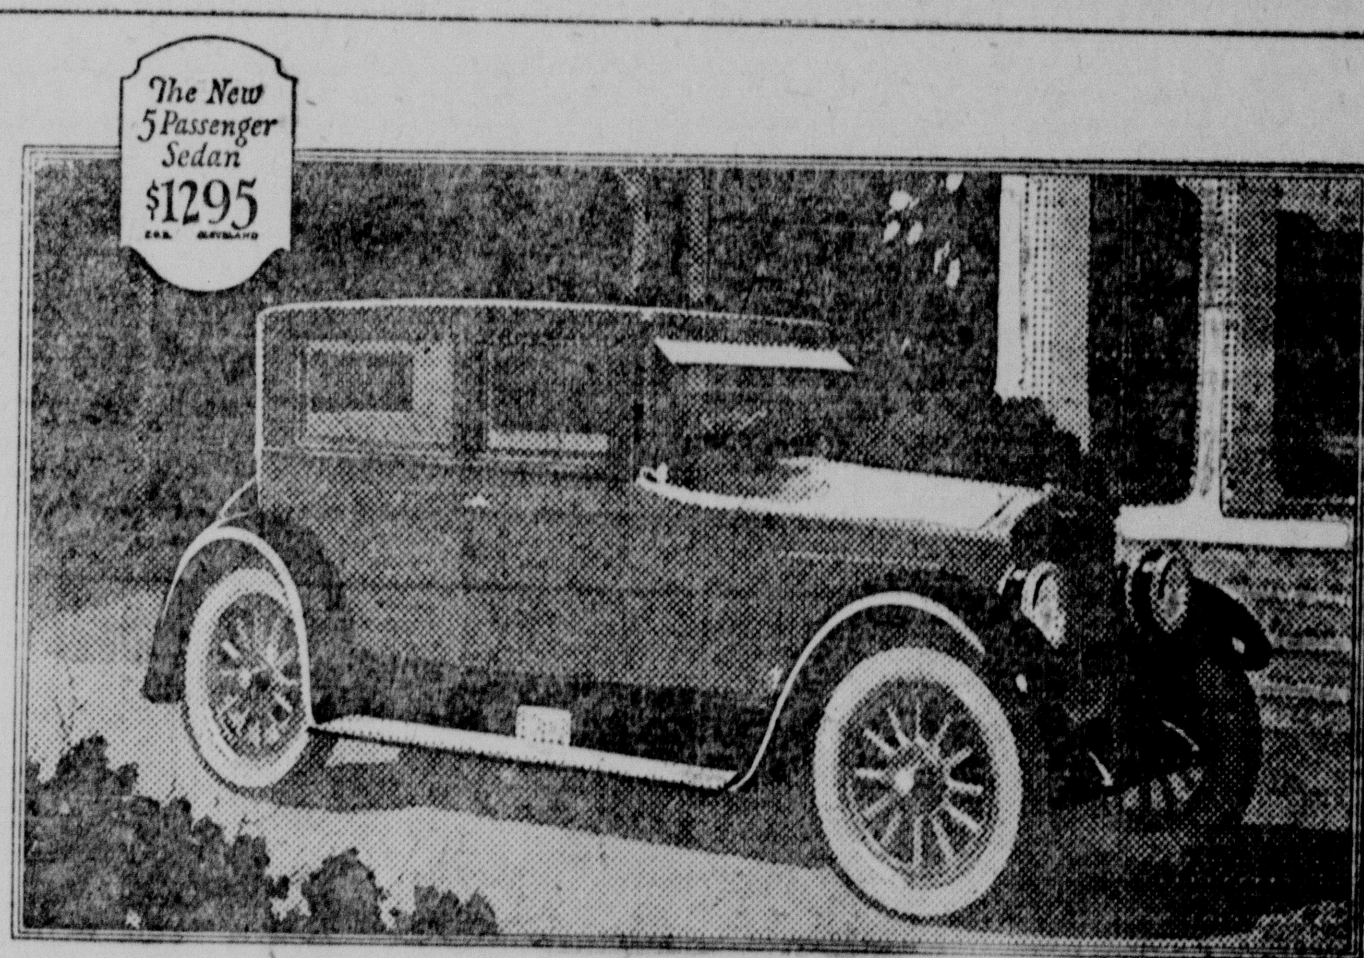

Dr. Bauer Speaks
Dr. F. C. Bauer who has visited the county many times in the last few years, will speak on the business of farming and soil improvement. Messrs. Lindsey and Laing who are in direct charge of Experiment Station work will explain some of the experiments under way. The Lee County Farm Bureau through Farm Advisor Griffith is assisting in making arrangements for this field meeting. The time for holding this meeting is scheduled at the time sweet clover should show its best just before being plowed under, and it is to bring out the general use of sweet clover that the Dixon Experimental Field meeting is planned.

VANIMAN NOW WITH I. A. A.

Vernon Vaniman of Virden is now with the Illinois Agricultural Association getting the newly formed auditing and accounting service under way. The Lee County Farm Bureau announces. Lee County will remember Mr. Vaniman has visited Lee county speaking at a half dozen or more county meetings. Mr. Vaniman has been the assistant state leader in agricultural extension work for the University of Illinois, but has recently obtained a leave of absence that he may help with the formation of the auditing and accounting service for farm-owned cooperatives.

Mr. Vaniman has been secretary since 1909 of the Virden Grain Company, a farmer-owned elevator which has a surplus of $36,000 and pays 10% dividends to its members, and vice president of the Virden Mutual Aid association, a cooperative fire and lightning insurance organization. He will take care of the field organization. The auditing service will be conducted by a newly formed organization, the "Illinois Agricultural Co-operative Association," with the assistance of the I. A. A.

Radio apparatus exported during January amounted to 184,965 pounds, valued at $331,849.

You'll Like Its Looks and Praise Its Power

HERE is the reason for the wonderful popularity of this new Cleveland Six model:

It carries the lowest price ever placed on a 5-passenger sedan that has plenty of power, genuine good looks and substantial construction throughout.

It all comes down to a matter of dollars and cents.

Sensible folks cannot be argued into paying more than $1295 for a 5-passenger 6-cylinder sedan—

—when for $1295 they can enjoy the comfort and relaxation of a roomy Fisher body, the power and pep of the finest performing motor in the whole light six field, and the dependability that they know they always get in a Cleveland Six.

Prove this by driving this new model yourself.

Watch how easily it passes bigger and costlier cars on hills—how swiftly and smoothly it accelerates.

That's the low torque power of the Cleveland Six motor—the extra power where power counts.

Note the beauty of the body lines—the brilliant finish that comes from seventeen painting operations—the wide, low seats—the deep upholstery—the smart appointments.

It's today's best buy in closed cars—a value that speaks for itself!

Genuine super-size balloon tires (31 x 3 1/4) optional, $70 extra. Cleveland chassis design permits their use without affecting road, frame, or fender clearance.

"OLD MAN" ALEX IN GREAT GAME; WON OWN BATTLE

Cubs Trimmed Pirates in Eleven Innings; News of Leagues.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
After the season's record of eight consecutive victories which began when they occupied seventh place, the New York Yankees was passed into a tie for first place in the American League yesterday by the weatherman. The champions' contest at Philadelphia was on of the four postponed by rain. Detroit after holding the thin lead of one-half game against the Yankee drive for several days, succumbed 6 to 4 to the steady fire of Pitcher Thurston of the White Sox. The hurler reinforced his box worth with a home run.

Cobb's pupils, the two gun team of baseball this season, went down fighting. After George Dauss had allowed three runs in the eighth, the Tigers rallied. Wingo, a pinch hitter, smashed a home run during the ninth inning.

Alex in Great Game
Grover Alexander's versatility permitted the Cubs to beat Pittsburgh 2-1 and creep a half game closer in the National League to the leading Giants whose game with Philadelphia was prevented by a washout at the Polo Grounds.

Alexander held the Pirates to eight hits and did not issue a pass in eleven innings. His double in the final frame drove home the winning run.

The first Boston American victory in ten days was achieved over the protesting bodies of 18 Senators including six pitchers. The Washington moundsmen issued 15 passes and permitted 13 hits in the Red Sox 15-6 triumph.

Catcher Gonzales was the Cincinnati nemesis in a 6-3 Cardinal victory. Mike's two doubles, with the second coming with the bases jammed, drove in four runs. Luque was ineffective.

"Stubby" Mack, former Chicago White Sox pitcher who was released to the Shreveport Texas League club, has been turned over to the Omaha Western League club.

Ira Thomas, former major league catcher who had been managing the Shreveport club, has turned the team over to Shortstop Billy Orr, obtained from Seattle. The club made a poor showing under Thomas and he has started an invasion of the major league cities to obtain players.

Morgan is Released
Ray Morgan, former second baseman of the Senators who was sentenced to a year in jail for an attack upon a patrolman has been released through the eloquence of Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club.

It told the court he would guarantee Morgan's future behavior. Morgan do scout work for the Senators.

Uncle Joe's Cannon is a "holdout" in the Three Eye League. "Uncle Joe" star opening day pitcher of the Louisville club did not appear to pitch first ball against Bloomington and in evening had to substitute for him.

Conceale Joe, who will be 88 years old next week, remained away from the mound.

Joe Harris, first baseman of the Red Sox had a perfect day at the plate with four hits, including two doubles. In four times at bat in the slugging match in which the Senators, using 18 men, six of whom were pitchers, went down in defeat 15-6.

Charley Jamieson, star outfielder of the Tigers will be out of the game some time because of grip.

Denny Williams, Mobile Southern Association outfielder who was purchased by the Red Sox, has been returned.

Carl East, one of the hardest hitters in the American Association, has been traded by the Minneapolis club to the Washington Americans for George Fisher.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES

A NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Furnival, Nigel's sister. Dolly calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David, Nigel's brother, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David, Nigel's brother, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage.

Dolly and Robert sail for America and word comes of the sinking of their ship. When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David, Nigel's brother, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage.

Mary for his brother's wife and asks her to come to live at Red Grange with him and his aunt. An acquaintance of Mary's, named Evans, falls in love with her. David and his aunt prepare to welcome Mary when she comes to live with them at Red Grange.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

He turned slowly away, drawing the door to behind him before he went down the wide staircase to his own study.

The car had already gone to Selmont, the nearest station. If the train was punctual she ought to be here in a few moments.

Even as he glanced at his watch he heard the motor-horn as the car turned in at the drive. He stopped irresolute.

A servant crossed the hall to open the door. Miss Varney came hurrying down the stairs.

"That must be she, David. Oh dear, I do feel so nervous!"

David looked a little nervous himself. He passed a hand rather agitatedly across the back of his head, and glanced at himself in a long mirror that hung on one wall; but he went forward composedly enough when the car drew up at the step, and a servant opened the door.

A little dying ray of sunshine struggled through the gray sky as Mary Furnival stepped from the car, shining warmly upon her sweet face and black-robed figure.

"Sunshine to greet her! A good omen," thought Miss Varney, as she unconsciously brushed David aside and went forward with outstretched hands.

My dear child, I am so glad to see you! Welcome home—to Nigel's home!"

The girl's eyes went past the little lady's kindly face to where David stood, and a sort of fear momentarily flared in her eyes. But it was gone immediately, and she returned Miss Varney's impulsive kiss with warmth.

"I am so glad to come, and I think it is sweet of you to want me."

She shook hands with David, composedly enough, but she did not raise her eyes to his. Her lips were a little tremulous. Now the first flush of excitement had died away she looked pale and ill.

"You will be all ready when you have taken off your hat. David, I told them to put tea in your study—it's so much more cozy there. You don't mind, do you?"

She did not wait for an answer. The two women went away up the wide staircase together.

David Bretherton stood looking after them with a little frown. She was glad to come, he was sure of that; the tone of her voice and the tremulous agitation of her face told him more than an effusion of words could have done. But he remembered how she had avoided meeting his eyes.

He went into the study, where tea was laid by the fire, and stood looking across the room with thoughtful eyes.

CHAPTER XXII
The Beginning of Difficulties

HE made himself very agreeable during tea-time. Even Miss Varney was a little surprised at the attention he paid to the girl. As court showing payment in full of balance to residuary legatee Alma Knox and also court costs. Estate settled. Administrator with will annexed discharged.

will be greatly missed by his teacher and little classmates.

Funeral services were held at the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, where a large concourse of sympathizing friends gathered to pay respect. Rev. O. D. Buck, assisted by Rev. Frank Wingert, conducted the services. Miss Ethel Knouse and Lucile Thomas, Mrs. and Earl Buck sang very beautifully. "Reckoning Hands" and "Precious Jewels." Interment was made in the Emmert cemetery.

A bud the gardener gave us. A pure and lovely child. He gave it to our keeping. To cherish undelled.

But just as it was opening. To the glory of the day. Down came the Heavenly Gardner And took our bud away.

But still we feel that surely He is an angel in Heaven for aye.
